Kaipara Songwriters Aim for the Stars

Seven Kaipara songwriters have contributed six of the ten songs recorded on a CD to celebrate the Maori New Year, Matariki. The songwriting contest was run by the Play it Strange Trust that promotes modern performance music in New Zealand secondary schools. Mike Chunn (Split Enz) from the Trust has a particular interest in promoting songwriting in schools with a range of competitions through the year. In the Matariki Competition the ten top songs are being professionally recorded by Studio 203 for the CD.

Savannah, Charlotte, Roxy, Salote, Brooke and Emma.
Creativity in the heart of re-construction.

The champion songwriters are:

Avalon Hewitt, "When Stars Collide"

Salote King, "Watching Tiny Eyes"

Roxy Van Dam, "Take my Hand"

Charlotte Goodwin, "Fire"

Brooke Waterson, "Matariki"

Savannah Cox & Emma Petersen, "The Night Before Dawn"

Avalon and Salote recorded their songs on Tuesday. Brooke, Roxy, Savannah and Emma will go in to the studio to record on Monday and Charlotte will record on Friday.

The College Music students are now preparing entries for the biggest contest of the year, Play it Strange, and for two smaller competitions, Peace Songs and Launch Your Lyrics. Kaipara has been New Zealand School of The Year in the Play it Strange competition in 2008 and 2010.

Equestrian Team

Four horse and rider combinations braved the wind and rain to compete in the North Island Secondary Schools One Day Event on Monday 16th May. The event comprises three phases - dressage, cross country and show jumping.

Lauren Cole lead after the dressage phase on her mount Wallstreet 2. Emmaus Foster on Golden Supreme had a beautiful show jumping round. Where's Wally and Twizzel showed their skill in the cross country taking their riders, Darryll Cole and Tanya Merkulov (respectively), home safely with no jump faults.

All riders had a positive day in some seriously muddy conditions.
