Over 200 Attend Open Night

Over two hundred parents and prospective students braved a windy winter night to visit the College on Thursday. Parents were welcomed by Board Chairman Stanley Phillips. College principal, John Grant, spoke about Kaipara and described the school's approach to secondary schooling. Parents were then able to visit over twenty classrooms where staff and students were on hand to help them explore the work of each of the school's faculties. Parents could listen to music, try food from the Home Economics room, exercise in the new gymnasium, watch students in graphics and engineering, have their name written in Japanese, enter a competition in the Reading Room and look at student work in many of the College's subjects.

Art on the Road

It was huge truck. That was before it opened out into a 8m x 10m Art Gallery. Inside were over 50 works by well known New Zealand artists. Our students had two days to get up close and personal with a wide range of top Kiwi art. Binney, Kahukiwa, Cotton, Woollaston, McIntyre were just a few of the names. Interest was high and students really enjoyed the chance to give these works a critical examination with the help of art teachers Leah Wilson and Marisia Inger. Then it folded itself up and drove on.

"We All Fall Down"

30 and 31 July, 8 pm College Hall

An adaptation of the famous Greek tragedy "Oedipus Rex"; written, produced and directed by Naomi Bartley.

A terrible prophecy that king Oedipus will unwittingly kill his father and marry his mother comes true. This play looks at the unfolding of the horror through the eyes of his two young daughters.

It was initially staged in 2007 at the University of Auckland, was widely acclaimed and had an extended sell-out season. This is the first time that it has been performed away from the university, and we are very pleased to have Naomi produce it here with our drama students.

$10. Bookings at the College office, or by txt 027 642 5740

National School Karting Champion

Daniel Connor won the 2009 National Schools Karting Championship in Hastings in the middle weekend of the holidays. In four heats he was 1st in three and 4th in one earning himself the No.1 grid position for the final which he won in great style on a wet track.

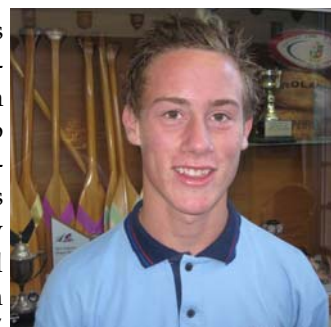

Daniel has only recently got into Karting and has developed a real passion for the sport. He competes in the Formula Junior series and will start the Top Half competition series shortly. His aim is to qualify to represent New Zealand at the Rotax Challenge World Championship next year. Appendicitis interfered with his plans for this year but Daniel is looking forward to being top of his class for the next 18 months. His kart sponsors, NAC Insurance and Morley Engineering are helping him with this pretty expensive sport. In the future he would like to get into single seater racing cars.

Congratulations!

Charlie is Off to the UK

Charlie David's soccer skills have earned him an invitation to visit England with an U16 soccer squad. The trip exposes NZ players to professional clubs and gives them an opportunity to play against their academy and youth sides. It is also a chance for the England clubs' talent scouts to watch top New Zealand players. Charlie was nominated by his club and has been accepted for the tour which will take him to England for about 16 days over the next school holidays.

Congratulations!
