Sports Prize-giving

The sixteenth annual Sports Prize-giving introduced a pacier programme along with some new awards as we celebrated the achievements of our sports men and women in the Hall last night. Cameron Calkoen, a New Zealand champion sprinter who has Cerebral Palsy, gave an excellent address that was amusing and motivating by turns. He spoke of the importance of support and of working towards dreams. "Nothing," he said, "compared to the feeling of achieving a demanding goal."

Two new junior awards were introduced; the Junior Team of the Year and the Junior All Rounders of the Year. The nominations for Junior Team of the Year were 10A Netball, 7th Grade Rugby and Junior Girls Soccer. The Team of the Year was the 7th Grade Rugby Team.

Nominations for Junior Girl All-rounder were: Jamie Masters, Alex Sergeant and Sally Young.

Nominations for Junior Boy All-rounder were: Harry Hulston-Adcock, Connor Jensen and Andrew Hill.

The winners were: Sally Young and Harry Hulston-Adcock.

At the senior level Blues were awarded to Ellie David in Football and Alex Adams in Dragon Boating.

Provincial Representatives were honoured; Harry Hulston-Adcock in Athletics, Frances Martin in Football, Andrew Hill in Cricket and Taylor Johnston and Josh Taylor in Basketball.

Ellie David was honoured for her membership of the Northern Regional Surf Lifesaving Team.

Sam Way and Eddie Phillips represented New Zealand in Baseball.

Daniel Connor was given the award for top individual sporting performance for his Karting win in the secondary school championships and wins in Auckland Club championships, the Top-Half Series and Trophy Day.

The Senior Team of the Year was the Dragonz.

Jan Maybury won the Beattie Cup for contribution to sport for her years of work with the waterpolo teams.

Coach of the year was Michelle Grundy who has coached the 1st XI girls Hockey team for 8 years.

The James Skipper Trophy for Best and Fairest was awarded to Ashley Timoko.

Nominations for Sportsman of the Year were: Alex Adams, Charlie David and Solomon King

Nominations for Sportswoman of the Year were: Ellie David, Kothar Esau and Madeline Shelling.

Sportsman of the Year: Solomon King

Sportswoman of the Year: Ellie David.

Congratulations!

We invite you all to join us in the College Hall to celebrate the top academic performances of our senior students for 2009

Public Speaking Champions 09

The library was full of students, parents and supporters for the annual public speaking competition at the college on Tuesday night. The adjudicators Joan Ruzich and Viv Murray were given a particularly difficult job in distinguishing the top speakers in the senior categories. Salote King repeated her Year 10 win in Year 11 and Courtney Grundy pipped last year's winner Oliver Meadows at Year 12 in a final that pitted animal rights against euthanasia. The contest of the night was at Year 13 where David Heming and Waratah Taogaga spoke to a very high standard. Lions President Pauline O'Neill was on hand to see the Lions trophy won narrowly by Waratah's superb advocacy for the Maori language.

Winners were:

Year 9	Candy Yoo	"Why Candy?"
Year 10	Letitia Blaikie	"Peace"
Year 11	Salote King	"Underage Drinking"
Year 12	Courtney Grundy	"Animal Rights"
Year 13	Waratah Taogaga	"Is the Maori Language Dying?"

Congratulations!

Top English Students

Karl Simpson and Brooke Waterson have won Distinction awards in the University of New South Wales English competition. This competition is open to Year 9 students in New Zealand and Australia and tests students comprehension and language skills. Karl and Brooke's awards place them in the top 10% of students who entered.

Congratulations!
